Fireside fittings that bespeak good taste
 Charming indeed is the living room that has a fireplace. And so "comfy" too, especially when all the needed fittings are at hand to keep the flickering flames within bounds.
 The MILLER STORE is headquarters for fireside fittings. To it come most of those who want a perfectly appointed fireplace—simply because of the wide assortment to choose from. Andirons and Fire Tools to match, in polished brass, wrought iron and black cast iron. Cane Cod Lighters. Coal Hoists. Wood Baskets—every fireplace appointment you can think of.

The Daily Noveltie
 Teaching Jim a Lesson
 By JANE OSBORN

"IF YOU pass up Jim Crane—well, I'm a needle's eye to me for sympathy if you never get a chance again. That's all," Bruce Borden spoke with the full authority of twenty-two years to his twenty-year-old sister Jane. They were sitting alone in the Borden living room. Bruce had noticed for the first time that Jane was not wearing her engagement ring, though it had been missing from her finger since the first time that she had not seen Professor James Crane in the Borden home for several days.

Bruce demanded explanations with brotherly exactitude, and Jane had in a manner that Bruce considered much too flip, announced that she had broken with Jim and was glad she had done so.

"She, you've cracked," Bruce announced, slamming closed the heavy volume he was trying to study. "You'd be darned lucky to marry a man like Jim Crane to his twenty-year-old sister. He's generally acknowledged that he knows more about oysters than any man in this city."

"Oysters," snapped Jane. "Don't talk to me about oysters. Who wants to marry an oyster expert?"

"But don't you realize that to have your reputation as a sister-in-law to one of the best oysterists in the country? I guess if you know how the fellows admire him at college you'd be sorry for what you're doing."

"He's a crusty old professor, and as absent-minded as the worst of them," snapped Jane. "That's the trouble. We'd only been engaged two months, and she had the flowers sent to her sister and handed me the brood."

"Signs of genius, also; signs of genius," commented Bruce; but Jane was not to be persuaded.

So matters stood between Prof. James Crane and his erstwhile fiancée, Jane Borden. Meanwhile, the professor perceptibly lost weight and became more absent-minded every day, and Jane was secretly perfectly forlorn. After two weeks of the severed engagement she had reached the point where she assured herself that she did not wish ever to renew that which was out of the question—but that she would like to be friends. She admitted to herself that she longed for the sight of Jim Crane.

It happened that week that there was an exhibition in town promoted by persons who had interest in seashore property. It was called the "Ocean Front Exhibit." Some interested promoters of the exhibit had a number of admission tickets on the secretary of Bruce's fraternity. Bruce had brought one home for Jane, realizing that Jane's time had been heavy on her hands and an afternoon spent at any sort of exhibit would be better than time spent mooning at home. Prof. James Crane had wandered into the fraternity exhibit and had been so interested in the exhibits that he had not noticed that this sister had his afternoon's work planned for him.

"It's a nurse's day off, and I must do some shopping. Can't you manage to take care of Lucille while I'm gone?"

Lucille was four. Not infrequently she had accompanied her Uncle Jim and Jane Borden on walks and had been the excuse for trips to the zoo and the circus, but Jim did not feel qualified to play nurse-girl alone. However, he consented. He started out with Lucille and then decided that his task might be less difficult if he took his charge to the exhibit. A bus ride, thrilling for Lucille, brought them to the door of the exhibition hall and before many minutes had passed Lucille's eyes were agog with admiration of the gay lights and gaily decorated booths. What took her eye from the first was a corner booth set up to advertise a newly opened stretch of seashore. Orchard Beach was as yet a stretch of dune-dotted sandy shore, but its promoters hoped to boost it into prominence among the summer resorts of the coast in question by means of a space twenty feet square filled with white sand from the beach. At the back was a canvas drop painted to resemble the far horizon of ocean and sky and foamy breakers playing on the shore. There was a bit of board walk, a bench and a collection of children's sand toys.

This led good to Lucille and she ran to join the three or four children who were already playing in the sand. Professor James Crane spied not very far off a booth set up by the State Fisheries. There was a special display showing work in oyster culture. James Crane was interested. He was always interested in oysters.

"Suppose you stay here a few minutes, Lucille," he suggested, "and I'll go over to that booth and pretty soon I'll come back and get you." Lucille gladly agreed.

The oyster exhibit proved especially interesting, not of course, that the State Fisheries could show James Crane anything about oysters, but he met an oyster specialist with whom he struck up a lively conversation about their pet hobby.

Meanwhile Jane Borden had arrived. She looked about but saw nothing that especially interested her. Still there was nothing else to do, so she decided to walk around. She approached the Orchard Beach exhibit and spied Lucille. In a second she had crouched down beside her and was asking her a dozen questions.

"Uncle Jim's gone to look at something and left me here," said Lucille. "He's been gone a long time and he won't come back." As a matter of fact, he had.

After Dinner Tricks

No. 312—Catch the Coins
 Two coins are placed on the back of the performer's right hand. The trick is to toss the coins in the air, and catch them one at a time as they come down.
 (See Fig. 1) straight up, it will be almost impossible to catch them singly. Fig. 2 explains the method. The coins are tossed with an upward tilt of the hand. This causes the coin at the finger tips to travel much higher than the other, and it will prove quite easy to grab them one at a time. With more practice, the trick can be done with three coins.

Annual November Fashion Sale
Wanamaker's Down Stairs Store
 Prices Quarter, Third and Half Less for Women's and Girls' Coats, Suits and Dresses

About six thousand garments specially purchased for this sale or freshly price lowered from our own stocks. It's the great once-a-Winter sale, when beautiful clothes can be had for very little.

Impossible to tell of all the good "buys" for women—the $5 cloth dresses, the $7.85 silk dresses, the $15 lace dinner frocks, the fine collection of tweed and polo coats at $10 to $42.50.

Here Are a Few of the Interesting Groups

Women's Dresses Copied From Much Finer Gowns
 Individual styles of which we have only a few duplicates; the dress pictured at $27.50 is of rich silk crepe with blouse back, lace collar, wide sash, long panels; others of pin-tucked Poirer twill, satin-back crepe, chiffon velvet, Poirer twill with Persian crepe trimmings, black crepe de chine with

New Winter Silks Specially Priced

Silk, silk, silk! Silks for plain, straight, street frocks. Silks for charmingly draped afternoon dresses. Silks for bewitching party things. And these new Down Stairs Store fabrics are not only lovely to look at. They are the firmly woven, long-wearing kinds that give a woman the satisfaction of economical buying.

39-Inch All-Silk Canton Crepe, $3 Yard
 New shipment of the heavy, desirable weight that the Down Stairs Store has specialized in all Autumn. Black, white, navy, silver, Copenhagen, jade, orchid, cocoa, sapphire, sand and scarlet.

39-Inch All-Silk Crepe Meteor, $3 Yard
 A soft shimmering quality that will "make up" beautifully and give faithful service. Black, navy, brown, silver, tan, Copenhagen, sand, pink, henna, sapphire and turquoise.

40-Inch All-Silk Tricotine, $3.50 Yard
 Decidedly new and "different." The price is lower than one could hope for, too, because the manufacturer gave us a price concession on the end of his lot. The weave looks much like wool tricotine. The texture is rich and velvety, with a dull luster. Black, white, brown, tangerine and periwinkle.

36-Inch All-Silk Charmeuse, $1.80
 Navy, black, brown, gray, pink and maize. Nice enough for dresses, and especially desirable for linings.

36-Inch All-Silk Kimono Silks, $1.50 Yard
 Flowered gorgeously, or with quaint picture patterns. The colors that a woman loves for negligees. Rose, gold, turquoise, jade, peacock, taupe and Copenhagen.
 (Down Stairs Store, Central)

Down Stairs Store Central Aisle

Women's One-Clasp Gloves of Velvety Arabian Mocha, $1.65

The price is so surprisingly low that we feel we must make haste to give the reason. They are of what is known as "second selection" skins, which means there are occasional scratches or tiny spots a shade or so lighter than the rest of the gloves. These, however, are so hard to find that most people would never suspect their existence and, as may be imagined, they in no wise affect the warmth and wearing qualities for which mocha gloves are noted.

All are in one-clasp style, outseam sewn and of medium gray—the shade that blends so well with almost any costume.

12-Button Length Chamois-Lisle Gloves, 85c
 New shipment of three popular shades, covert, walnut and cafe, in all regular sizes.

Flowered Cotton Petticoats, $1
 Black backgrounds with gay floral designs. Made with deep pleated ruffles and finished at the waistline with elastic.
 (Down Stairs Store, Central Aisle)

Men's Detachable Collar Percalé Shirts $1.85

Well-made percalé shirts in conservative narrow stripes and small checked patterns. They have the comfortable detachable soft collars and double turned-back cuffs. Tan, blue, lavender and black on white. Sizes 16 to 17.

Men's Suits of Assured Wanamaker Quality, $25

There is no "say so" about these suits. Every claim made for them has been proved true before it was made.

Made of fabrics which have been chemically tried and proved all-wool. Styles that are right down to the minute without a suggestion of freakishness, kinds a man knows will be "good" as long as the suit itself holds together—and that will be a good long time!

Single-breasted fancy mixed chevots in 2 and 3 button styles.

Pleated-back sports models in tweed and herringbone effects.

An exceptional assortment of good suits for which $25 is a very moderate price.

More $5 Shoes for Men

Good solid leather shoes for everyday wear and comfort. Exceptional at just $5.

Black kid blucher shoes with broad toes, stout soles and wide heels with rubber top lifts already attached. Same shoe in straight-lace style.

Other high shoes and oxfords in tan or black leathers, also just $5. Conservative and semi-conservative shapes.
